Mrs. Lee Witte and Ada C. Williams of Brooklyn, New York, are visiting with their relative Mrs. Mulford. They will remain here about a week and will then continue their journey to California.

The Sulphur Valley News says that Willow has more widows to her population than any other town here in any part of the globe. And what's more they are all pretty good and none of them beyond a marriageable age.

Dr. Wright, who has been in the city for the past several days, returned to Phoenix last night, where Mrs. Wright now is. The doctor was a hard worker in the legislature and a decided politician.

R. N. Fredericks, grand master of the Masonic lodge in Arizona, reached Phoenix yesterday morning on his return from a tour of southern and eastern Arizona. He reports the country looking very bright.

Once again alfalfa-fattened beef has supplanted the range article in Tucson. The range stock are pretty good but not up to the standard of the alfalfa beef. He is therefore again bringing in Salt Valley stock. Only first quality meats are sold by Mr. Schumacher.

John Smith, chief clerk in the surveyor general's office, who was in the city last night, has been visiting the soda works plant of the late James W. Whalley from Mrs. Whalley and all rights and privileges pertaining thereto. He took possession of the same yesterday and Whalley held the property under a bill of sale executed over a year ago.

Hon. P. R. Brady testified before the land court that he was in Tucson when Arizona was still a province of Mexico and that the only settlement in the territory was at Tucson and Calabazas. Mr. Brady was one of the men who went from Tucson to the relief of Calabazas at the time that place was besieged by the Indians.

The ice works started up Tuesday to test the machinery, after the winter's changes which have been going on for the last three months. Everything is reported as running smoothly, and in condition to meet a better demand than they have had during the past three or four years. In the fact the errors made in setting up the works have all been corrected and the works are in better condition than ever before.

Max Enzenberg was in from his Santa Rita home in the Empire valley yesterday. He was here for the purpose of buying another windmill with a view to raising water from the desert. He is now in the neighborhood of his home and he is of the belief that a town of fair proportions will be built. A colony of twenty-six people went in there about a week ago and are now being followed. They will engage in placer working. Mr. Enzenberg has a store there and is doing quite well.

Under the instructions from the secretary of the interior of the United States, the Land and Water company canal has been marked on the township plan in the land office. By act of Feb. 25, 1880, this company was granted a right of way 500 feet wide across the Fort Lowell reservation, together with one thousand acres for a reservoir site on the condition that they furnish the post with water not to exceed 100 acres.

Prof. Boris Pomorski, a Russian exiled to Siberia by his government, but recently pardoned and privileged to return to his native land, is in the city and will lecture in the Methodist church on Tuesday night next. At the time of his exile he was professor of philosophy at the university of St. Petersburg, and is a gentleman of much learning. At the time of his exile he was quite wealthy but his property was confiscated by the government. The more liberal policy of the present czar enables him to return home and seek a restoration of his former possessions.

His lecture on Russia promises to be of unusual interest and should be attended by all. An admission of 25 cents only will be charged.

Sometimes since, it will be remembered, a man left Tempe on horse back for Florence. His horse, bridled and saddled turned up at that town some days later, but the man himself never appeared. His disappearance on the desert was noted at the time and then as with dozens of other similar cases passed out of mind till his bleached bones was accidentally discovered later on. Simon Braley crossing the desert at that point two days ago, noticed a pair of overalls lying on the sand. On picking them up and shaking them a human body dropped out. Further search revealed still others and the tale of the missing man was told. He had undoubtedly lost his way and died of thirst. His bones had been widely scattered by the coyotes.

Forecast of April weather—Three Storms to cross the Continent Between the 4th and 15th.

(Copyrighted, 1895, by W. T. Foster.)

St. Joseph Mo., March 30—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from March 30th to April 3d and the next will reach the Pacific coast about April 4th, cross the western mountain country by close of the 5th, the great central valleys 6th to 8th and the eastern states about 9th.

This storm will bring remarkable extremes and radical changes in the weather. Summer heat will prevail for a few days previous to the storm wave dates and then a drop in the temperature that will set in from the southward. This cool wave, in places a real cold wave, will keep the temperature below normal for a week following.

Several local storms are expected accompanying this storm wave and making allowance for a month's progress toward summer, the weather will be very like that which occurred about and following March 10th.

The warm wave will cross the western mountain country about 4th of April, the great central valleys 5th and the eastern states 6th. The cool wave will cross the western mountain country about 7th, the great central valleys 8th and eastern states 11th.

During the period covered by this storm wave including the cool wave, rainfall will be very light in the northern states. More rain will fall in the southern states but will not be well distributed and a few localities will have too much, many others not enough rain.

The third storm wave of April will reach the western mountain country by close of 11th, the great central valleys 12th to the 14th and the eastern states 15th.

This warm wave will cross the western mountain country about 10th, great central valleys 12th, eastern states 14th. The cool wave will cross the western mountain country about 13th, great central valleys 15th and eastern states 17th.

This storm wave will cause a more general distribution of rainfall and, taking the whole country, an increase in precipitation. The weather will average much cooler than in the first week of the month.

APRIL WEATHER.

My calculations for April weather are more complete on temperature than on rainfall. Temperature in the New England states will average above normal and rainfall below. South Atlantic states temperature below and rain about normal. West Gulf states and Lower Mississippi valley high temperature and dry. Upper Mississippi valley average temperature and dry. Upper Missouri valley and Red River of the North high temperature and dry. North Pacific coast temperature and rainfall above normal.

The Ohio valley and upper and lower lake temperature and dry. East Gulf states and Lower Mississippi valley high temperature and dry. Upper Mississippi valley average temperature and dry. Upper Missouri valley and Red River of the North high temperature and dry. North Pacific coast temperature and rainfall above normal.

The average path of the April lows, or storm centers, enters the Pacific coast at mouth of Columbia river, passes about 150 miles south of San Francisco, Chicago, over south part of Newfoundland, Ireland and England. During first half of coming April the paths of storm centers will principally be north and the last half south of the average path described above.

Following are about the normal temperature and rainfall for April.
